From the Home Monthly.

In a pleasant farm house, one wintry eve, after supper and a hard day's work at threshing, Samuel Grey rose from his chair with a sad, weary look, and stood before the drawer of an old bureau.

"Samuel, what is thee doing?" said his mother, following him. "There is not going out to-night, when so tired?"

"Yes, mother," he replied, taking up with a sigh, a small calico bag, which seemed well filled.

"Why, that is the mortgage money,

Samuel; what does thee want with that?

"It is not due till next spring."

"I know it, mother; but I must have this money this night," he answered in a determined tone.

"For what, my son? Thee has always told me everything. We earned the money together."

"I know it, mother. All these years we have toiled to pay off that mortgage left on the farm at my father's death, and now it has all come to nothing. Sit down in your chair, mother, and I will tell you the truth, as I trust I have ever done. I do not fear your blame, as I have always loved your praise. This one egregious error has taught me great lessons already. They say women can bear trouble better than men."

Samuel's mother trembled very much, but she sat quietly down. Her face was pleased to look at her healthy and fresh,

with a clean Quaker cap crimped about it.

She could not believe her son had done anything so very wrong; but all was a mystery.

DAILY GAZETTE.

Seven Up.

From the Home Monthly.

In a pleasant farm house, one wintry eve, after supper and a hard day's work at threshing, Samuel Grey rose from his chair with a sad, weary look, and stood before the drawer of an old bureau.

"Samuel, what is the matter?" said his mother, following him. "There is not going out to-night, when so tired?"

"Yes, mother," he replied, taking up with a sigh a small calico bag, which seemed very full.

"Why, that's the mortgage money, Samuel; what does that with that? It is not due till next spring."

"I know it, mother; but I must have this money this night," he answered in a determined tone.

"For what, my son? There has always been money to pay."

"I know it, mother. All these years we have been to pay off that mortgage left on the farm at my father's death, and now it is due."

"Sit down, Samuel, and tell me the story, as I trust I have ever done. Do not fear your blame, as I have always loved your praise. This one egregious error has taught me great lessons already. They say you must bear trouble better than men."

Samuel's mother trembled very much, but she sat quietly down. Her face was pleasant to look at—healthy and fresh, with a clean Quaker cap creased about it. She could not believe her son had done anything so very wrong; but all was a mystery.

"Last evening you know how late I staid away; and I presume you thought I was with Ellen at the farm; but I was not; more is the pity. I went on an errand to the tavern to get some oil for our lame horse's leg. The barroom was a blaze of light, and all the boys there, and I stepped in to warm. There were two finely dressed gentlemen from Boston sitting around the table, calling for the best of port wine, and treating the company. They called me to join so cordially that I consented to sit down with them."

Forever float that standard sheet—
Where Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Forward to Vicksburg.

Gen. Grant has issued an order to his army to march with six days' rations. The destination is not stated, but we presume it is to attack Vicksburg from below.

Crossing the Rappahannock.

The army of the Potomac were crossing the Rappahannock on Tuesday and Wednesday, both above and below Fredericksburg. So far they met with success. Gen. Hooker has taken the field, and henceforth his headquarters are in the saddle.

Bragg's Forces Advanced.

The rebels under Gen. Bragg have advanced towards Manassas as far as Dick Creek. It may be that they intend to attack Rosecrans' army. The rebels are said to be on short rations, and they may be compelled to make the attack.

THE HERNANDO AFFAIR.—We publish today an account of the fight at Hernando, Miss., written by a member of the 33d regiment. As no mention is made of the death of Maj. Virgin, we presume it is a mistake, growing out of the death of a major of an Ohio regiment in the same affair.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

From the Fifth Regiment.

CAMP NEAR PORT FULTON, Va., April 28, 1863.

Editor's Gazette:—It being a very wet and disagreeable day, I thought I would write to the friends of Co. E, and to all whom it may concern. The boys of Co. E are enjoying good health at present. We have got none in the regimental hospital at present. We have 63 men for duty, and we draw 54 rations, showing one man on the sick list. He remains in his quarters. I think the company stands the hardships of camp life as well as any other company in the regiment. The boys are not "spoiling for a fight," but are ready and willing to meet the rebels whenever we are ordered, and will fight the rebellion to the bitter end. God knows the old fifth remains true to the Union cause, for which we are ready, if necessary, to lay down our lives to defend. We cannot live and see the rebels set up such a government as they are trying to establish. It must never be allowed, if we ever expect to live in peace. I think the rebels will not hold out any longer than this summer, if they are as hard up as is reported. Soldiers must have something to eat, or they cannot fight long. I hope the rebels will be obliged to acknowledge themselves whipped before next fall, for if we are ever permitted to return home, we must come with our flags flying triumphantly and victoriously in the breeze, and not trailing in the dust, as is the French design and black-headed wish of the copperheads. God grant they may be disappointed. They will not be forgotten by the soldiers, for their treachery in trying to overthrow the best government that ever existed. The soldiers would not think half as hard towards the copperheads if they would go and seek their favorite, (Jeff.) and fight in the rebel ranks; but no, they are not men enough for that. They might spill some of their precious blood. They would rather stay at home, where everything is quiet, and no danger prevails, and everything is safe. They think they can play the guerrilla in our rear, and the soldiers will not know anything about it, but I am happy to say the soldiers have found it out, and are only waiting an opportunity to measure out to them their just reward.

Governor Salmon was here on the 21st. He made a short speech to the officers and men of the 5th. In return, the boys gave him three hearty cheers. It does us good to hear from the governor. He gave us a great deal of satisfaction; we feel as though we could leave our families and friends to the care of those at home who have any interest in the welfare of the government of the United States.

Yours with respect, N. B. L.,
Co. E, 5th Regt. Wis. Vol.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL.—Our report of the proceedings of the council last evening occupies a good deal of room, and excludes other matter prepared for to-day's paper. The inaugural of the Mayor contains many good suggestions, and its exhibit of the affairs of the city is highly satisfactory, while its complimentary allusions to Janesville are all well merited and just. We re-publish, in connection with these proceedings, the annual report of the city treasurer, as a proper accompaniment of the inaugural. Extra copies may be obtained by application at this office. We do not know a better document to circulate abroad as a full exhibit of our city matters.

SOCIAL GATHERING.—Those interested in the class in dancing, under the instruction of Prof. Shaw, will not forget the social gathering at the Myers House this evening. The class will commence with the elementary practice, Saturday afternoon at the Myers House, at three o'clock, and a class for adults in the evening at 8 o'clock.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

REGULAR MEETING, Thursday Evening, April 30.

FIRST MEETING OF THE NEW COUNCIL.

The council was called to order by the Mayor, R. B. Treat.

The roll was then called by the clerk, G. H. Williston, and the following members answered to their names:

Ald. McCosney and Strong from the 1st ward; Ald. Bates and Burnham from the 2d ward; Ald. Patten and Fredendall from the 3d ward; Ald. Patten and Shelton from the 4th ward.

Gentlemen of the Council:—It has been the custom of the preceding Mayor of the Common Council, upon assuming the responsibilities and duties of his office, to present you with a statement of the financial condition of the city, adding such suggestions as he might deem necessary or important for your consideration during the year in which he will be associated with you in an official capacity. In conformity with this custom I submit the following:

FINANCES.

I herewith present you a tabular statement of the financial condition of the city up to April 1st, 1863, ascertained from the books of the treasurer. It will add that since the statement referred to was made the only judgment against the city has been paid.

It is absolutely necessary that suitable facilities should be erected on each of the engine houses, for the protection of the bells, the sum of $300 will be required to meet the current expenses of the coming year.

Within the past two years the different companies have furnished a large number of men for the war, and for a time very few of the men who were in the fire department, but the companies have again been filled with the same class of loyal and active young men, who are ready to brave the dangers of a fireman's life. The only reward they crave is the due appreciation by the public of the arduous duties they volunteer to perform, and that no wise policy shall be pursued by the Common Council in furnishing them the means to render the department effective at all times and under all circumstances.

The chief engineer, Wm. H. Birn, reports the number of active firemen at present at 160. No class of our citizens is more deserving of the aid and good will of the public, whose guardians they are, than the fire department composed of it is of intelligent, brave and industrious young men who ever have, and do still maintain for themselves and the department a high character as a body of organized men might well envy. Two of our companies have a well selected library, and the third is contemplating the formation of one. This argues well for their intelligence and morality, and such efforts for improvement should be highly commended and aided by a generous public.

REPUBLIC GROUNDS.

The sum of $1,000 was appropriated by the last council for the improvement of the public grounds and a corresponding amount has been subscribed by the citizens to further the object. The work has already been commenced and should be continued under the careful supervision of the committee on parks.

As to the object for which this amount of money was appropriated, but few persons will be found who will be disposed to indulge in conjecture, and the beautiful and promising ground of the public grounds and the benefits of posterity, will reach the hearts of all, and receive the highest commendations from all liberal minded men.

But restrictions will be necessary, and much discretion required to be exercised by this and succeeding councils, or the future appropriations may become onerous to the people, as a large sum can and must be expended to make the grounds what they should be when finished. In connection with this, I would suggest to the citizens that they plant shade trees in the streets, in front of their residences, and while they do this, increase the value of their own property, and improve and ornament the city.

POLICE.

The constables of the wards make a sufficient police force for all ordinary occasions. I would suggest that they be held responsible for all neglect of duty, and by so doing, render them efficient at all times. If any necessity arises for an increase of the police for special officers may be appointed at any time.

LICENSING.

I leave for your consideration the amount for which a license should be paid for the sale of alcoholic or other liquors, but would suggest that whatever sum may be fixed upon, it shall be paid, as heretofore, be issued upon the same day, and for no less a period than one year, and that the law in reference to those persons to whom licenses are issued be rigidly enforced in all respects. Like all other classes of our citizens, they should be amenable to the law, in its strict requirements.

STREETS, BRIDGES, ETC.

The streets and sidewalks should be kept in good repair, and the roads within the city limits leading into the country should receive special attention. It is a frequent remark, and but too true, that the roads in the country are in a much better condition than those inside of the city limits. All the roads should be made accessible, at all seasons of the year, to the farming community, as the growth and prosperity of our city depends to a great extent upon the surrounding country. The best interest of the city demands it. I would call special attention to South Main street, West Milwaukee street beyond the railroad, Center avenue across the river, and other roads leading from the first ward. In this connection, I would ask that the bridge built by subscription at the foot of Jackson and Franklin streets, be accepted by the city, and placed in good condition, as it is one of the most important avenues of the city.

THE CITY.

The city is beautifully located on either side of Rock river, and near the geographical center of the county of which it is the capital. Years ago it possessed an enviable reputation abroad for thrift and enterprise, surpassing many of her neighbors of more pretensions and mature years. Its growth has been rapid and sure; attributable to its advantages as regards location and the intelligence and enterprising character of its inhabitants. Scarcely twenty years have elapsed since its first settlement, but a city has been reared in the valley of the Rock unrivaled in the interior of the state, for enterprise, commerce and wealth. In fact, in point of population and wealth, Janesville yields the palm to but one other city in the state.

No city can boast of a more healthy location, or a more beautiful and diversified scenery, while its surroundings are regarded as unsurpassed. As the city can generate, points with unerring certainty to one great source of its wealth and prosperity. By the enterprise of one or more of the earlier settlers, the waters of the Rock have been controlled and made subservient to the uses of manufactures and commerce. The water power of the city is unsurpassed by any other in the state. The upper power, although ten or twelve mills and manufacturing establishments have been erected, scarcely one third occupied, while the lower one at Monterey is hardly touched by the machinery which is yet destined to occupy it. But a few years can elapse ere the hum of machinery and the whirl of the spindle will be heard here as now at the upper power. Capital must soon seek this place for investment, and woven and cotton factories, for the manufacture of agricultural and other implements, railroad cars, &c., as well as paper mills, must be erected, and will amply repay such enterprise. Lines of railroads diverge in every direction, looking to the great forests and mineral regions of Lake Superior—the head waters of the Mississippi in the far-off regions of the northwest—radiating, in fact, to all points of the compass.

Churches and school buildings, creditable and adequate to the wants of the people, mark the progress of civilization, religion and education. Hotels in size and equipment of a commercial metropolis have been erected to supply the wants of the traveling public; while the only and tasteful residences and splendid blocks of buildings in the business localities have been reared to gratify the taste and to accommodate the increasing trade and commerce of our prosperous city.

OUR ARMY VOLUNTEERS.

In conclusion, gentlemen, I should be direct in my duty as a public officer, if, at this time, I should fail to bring to your remembrance the brave men who have gone forth from our midst to meet the common foe of our country. There is a mission too sacred to admit of empty eulogy, and the Daily Gazette be appointed the official paper of the city for the ensuing year. To the Common Council of the City of Janesville.

We propose to do in the Janesville Daily Gazette all the advertising required by the city at the fees specified by the statutes of the state, when such fees are specified, and to submit all other charges for printing or advertising to the action of the council.

Forever float that standard sheet—
Where breathes the foe but falls before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Forward to Vicksburg.

Gen. Grant has issued an order to his army to march with six days' rations. The destination is not stated, but we presume it is to attack Vicksburg from below.

Creeping the Bappahannock.

The army of the Potomac were crossing the Bappahannock on Tuesday and Wednesday, both above and below Fredericksburg. So far they met with success. Gen. Hooker has taken the field, and henceforth his headquarters are in the saddle.

Bragg's Forces Advanced.

The rebels under Gen. Bragg have advanced towards Murfreesboro as far as Duck creek. It may be that they intend to attack Rosecrans' army. The rebels are said to be on short rations, and they may be compelled to make the attack.

THE HERNANDO AFFAIR.—We publish to-day an account of the fight at Hernando, Miss., written by a member of the 33d regiment. As no mention is made of the death of Maj. Virgin, we presume it is a mistake, growing out of the death of a major of an Ohio regiment in the same affair.

From the Fifth Regiment.

Correspondence of the Gazette.
CLARK HALL, FIFTH REG'T, Va.,
April 21st, 1863.

Editors Gazette:—It being a very wet and disagreeable day, I thought I would write to the friends of Co. E, and to all whom it may concern. The boys of Co. E are enjoying good health at present. We have 53 men for duty, and we draw 54 rations, showing one man on the sick list. He remains in his quarters. I think the company stands the hardships of camp life as well as any other company in the regiment. The boys are not "spoiling for a fight," but are ready and willing to meet the rebels whenever we are ordered, and will fight the rebellion to the bitter end. God knows the old fifth remains true to the Union cause, for which we are ready, if necessary, to lay down our lives to defend. We cannot live and see the rebels set up such a government as they are trying to establish. It must never be allowed, if we ever expect to live in peace. I think the rebels will not hold out any longer than this summer, if they are as hard up as is reported. Soldiers must have something to eat, or they cannot fight long. I hope the rebels will be obliged to acknowledge themselves whipped before next fall, for if we are ever permitted to return home, we must come with our flags flying triumphantly and victoriously in the breeze, and not trailing in the dust, as is the feudal design and black-headed wish of the copperheads. God grant they may be disappointed. They will not be forgotten by the soldiers, for their treachery in trying to overthrow the best government that ever existed. The soldiers would not think half as hard towards the copperheads if they would go and seek their favorite, (Jeff.) and fight in the rebel ranks; but no, they are not men enough for that. They might spill some of their precious blood. They would rather stay at home, where everything is quiet, and no danger prevails, and everything is safe. They think they can play the guerrilla in our rear, and the soldiers will not know anything about it, but I am happy to say the soldiers have found I am, and are only waiting an opportunity to measure out to them their just reward.

Governor Salomon was here on the 21st.

He made a short speech to the officers and men of the 5th. In return, the boys gave him three hearty cheers. It does as good to hear from the governor. He gave us a great deal of satisfaction; we feel as though we could leave our families and friends to the care of those at home who have any interest in the welfare of the government of the United States.

Yours with respect,
N. B. I.,
Co. E, 5th Reg't. Wis. Vol.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL.—Our report of the proceedings of the council last evening occupies a good deal of room, and excludes other matter prepared for to-day's paper. The inaugural of the Mayor contains many good suggestions, and its exhibit of the affairs of the city is highly satisfactory, while its complimentary allusions to Janesville are all well merited and just. We re-publish, in connection with these proceedings, the annual report of the city treasurer, as a proper accompaniment of the inaugural. Extra copies of the paper containing them may be obtained by application at this office. We do not know a better document to circulate abroad as a full exhibit of our city matters.

SOCIAL GATHERINGS.—Those interested in the class in dancing, under the instruction of Prof. Shaw, will not forget the social gathering at the Myers House this evening. The class will commence with the elementary practice, Saturday afternoon at the Myers House, at three o'clock, and a class for adults in the evening at 8 o'clock.

FLOATING DEBT.—NONE.

This statement presents the financial condition of the city in a very satisfactory light, comparing favorably with any other city in the west.

Three bonds of $1,000 each due in 1866 have been paid and canceled, thus anticipating the funded debt. A premium of three per cent was paid for this amount. It is understood that the holders of the remaining bonds do not demand a larger percentage of interest than the purchase of any other bonds at the present time at a premium in which the city would be benefited. Therefore would recommend that the residue of the money on hand from the redemption of certificates of sale or that may hereafter accrue from that source (except so much of it as should legitimately go to reimburse the school fund from loss sustained by uncollected taxes) be invested on bond and mortgage or other safe security as a sinking fund for the payment of the bonded debt as it may become due.

In this connection it is proper that I should state that during the last year an extremely unpleasant controversy has arisen between the city and county in relation to the delinquent taxes returned to the county treasurer and charged back to the city. Suits are now pending in the supreme court brought for the purpose of testing the validity of a re-assessment of a large portion of these taxes. Should these suits be decided favorably to the city it is believed that this would remove all or the greater part of the controversy, but should the decision be adverse to the city, it is still hoped that the identity of interest between the city and county, the prosperity of each being so intimately connected with that of the other, and the exercise of a liberal and forbearing spirit on the part of those called upon to act for the respective parties will prevent any interference on the friendly feelings which have always existed, and which it is so important should be continued by a prompt and equitable adjustment of the differences between them.

SCHOOLS.

The public schools of the city are in a very flourishing condition and have been conducted with the strictest economy possible without impairing their efficiency. An excellent control of the school fund has been maintained by the excellent board of commissioners, and the immediate care of S. T. Lockwood with able corps of teachers they have been brought to a degree of perfection never before obtained and seldom excelled by the best private schools. They are an honor to the city, and add materially to the many advantages which Janesville already possesses to invite a desirable population among us. I would recommend that the same policy be pursued in the future by the council as heretofore, and that to measures be adopted whereby their efficiency and usefulness may be impaired, but rather is it not your duty to sustain them in such manner as to continue their prosperity and advance them to that position commensurate with their importance to the community. The estimated costs for the support of the schools for the ensuing year is $8,800.

The grounds of the High School building should be enclosed and graded. The school buildings in the first ward do not meet the requirements of the schools, nor are they creditable to the city. I would suggest that the school property be sold, and that the school be moved to a central location, and a ward school building similar to the second and fourth ward buildings be erected. It is believed that but a small additional outlay, other than the value of the school property in the ward, would be required for that purpose. Nearly $7,000 of the school tax of former years is now in certificates of sale, which when paid goes to the credit of the general fund. I would recommend that the money received for the redemption of these certificates be applied to the redemption of the school fund, this would be sufficient to make the necessary repairs of building and improve the grounds, as well as insuring the prompt payment of teachers' and other expenses. This would materially aid the commissioners in the discharge of their duties, and ensure the continuance of the schools under all circumstances.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

For the year 1862, the sum of $130 has been expended for the Fire Department. The engine buildings and hook and ladder house require considerable repairing, and a

It is absolutely necessary that suitable bell-fries should be erected on each of the engine houses, for the protection of the bells, the sum of $300 will be required to meet the current expenses of the coming year. Within the past two years the different engine houses have furnished a large number of men for the war, which is a fine time materially lessened the efficiency of the fire department, but the companies have again been filled with the same class of loyal and active young men, who are ever ready to brave the dangers of a fireman's life. The only reward they crave is the due appreciation by the public of the arduous duties they volunteer to perform, and that no unwieldy policy shall be pursued by the Common Council in furnishing them the means to render the department effective at all times and under all circumstances.

The chief engineer, Wm. H. Bart, reports the number of active firemen at present at 160. No class of our citizens is more deserving of the aid and good will of the public, whose guardians they are, than the fire department composed of it is of intelligent, brave and industrious young men who ever have, and do still maintain for themselves and the department a character that any body of organized men might well envy. Two of our companies have a well selected library, and the third is contemplating the formation of one. This argues for their intelligence and morality, and such efforts for improvement should be highly commended and aided by a generous public.

PUBLIC GROUNDS.

The sum of $1,000 was appropriated by the last council for the improvement of the public grounds, and a corresponding amount has been subscribed by the citizens to further the object. The work has already been commenced and should be continued under the careful supervision of the committee on parks.

As to the object for which this amount of money was appropriated, but few persons will be found who will be disposed to inquire in censuring, for so noble and praiseworthy an object as the beautifying and ornamenting the public grounds of the city for the benefit of posterity, will reach the hearts of all, and receive the highest encomiums from all liberal minded men.

But restrictions will be necessary, and much discretion required to be exercised in this and succeeding councils, or the future appropriations may become onerous to the people, as a large sum can and must be expended to make the grounds what they should be when finished. In connection with this, I would suggest to the citizens that they plant shade trees in the parks, in front of their residences, and while they do this, increase the value of their own property, and improve and ornament the city.

POLICE.

The constables of the wards make a sufficient police force for all ordinary occasions. I would suggest that they be held responsible for all neglect of duty, and by so doing, render them efficient at all times if any necessary arises for an increase of the police, for special officers may be appointed at any time.

LICENSES.

I leave for your consideration the amount for which a license be issued for the sale of alcoholic or other liquors, but would suggest that whatever sum may be fixed upon, that license, as heretofore, be issued upon the condition, for the user a period of one year, and that the license be renewed by those persons to whom licenses are issued be rigidly enforced in all respects. Like all other classes of our citizens, they should be amenable to the law, in its strict requirements.

STREETS, DRIVES, ETC.

The streets and side-walks should be kept in good repair, and the roads within the city limits leading into the country should receive especial attention. It is a frequent remark, and but too true, that the roads in the country are in a much better condition than those inside of the city limits. All the roads should be made accessible, at all seasons of the year, to the farming community, as the growth and prosperity of our city depends to a great extent upon the surrounding country. I would suggest that the city demand a larger percentage of interest than the purchase of any other bonds at the present time at a premium in which the city would be benefited. Therefore would recommend that the residue of the money on hand from the redemption of certificates of sale or that may hereafter accrue from that source (except so much of it as should legitimately go to reimburse the school fund from loss sustained by uncollected taxes) be invested on bond and mortgage or other safe security as a sinking fund for the payment of the bonded debt as it may become due.

THE CITY.

The city is beautifully located on either side of Rock river, and near the geographical center of the county of which it is the capital. Years ago it possessed an enviable reputation for thrift and enterprising, and many of our citizens are now distinguished by their wealth and their growth has been rapid and sure; attributable to its advantages as regards location and the intelligence and enterprising character of its inhabitants. Scarcely twenty years have elapsed since its first settlement, but a city has been reared in the valley of the Rock unrivaled in the interior of the state, for enterprise, commerce and wealth. In fact, in point of population and wealth, Janesville yields the palm to but one other city in the state.

No city can boast of a more healthy location, or a more beautiful and diversified scenery, while its surroundings as regards fertility of soil as far as the eye can penetrate, points with unerring certainty to one great source of its wealth and prosperity. By the enterprise of one or more of the earlier settlers, the waters of the Rock have been controlled and made subservient to the uses of manufactures and commerce. The water power of the city is unsurpassed by any other in the state. The upper power, although cut off by small mills and manufacturing establishments have been erected, scarcely one-third occupied, while the lower one at Monterey is hardly touched by the machinery which is yet destined to occupy it. But a few years can elapse ere the hum of machinery and the whirl of the spindle will be heard here as now at the upper power. Capital must soon seek this place for investment, and woolen and cotton factories, shops for the manufacture of agricultural and other implements, railroad cars, &c., as well as other useful enterprises, will multiply and repay the enterprise. Lines of railroads diverge in every direction, looking to the great forests and mineral regions of Lake Superior—the head waters of the Mississippi in the north, and to all points of the compass.

Churches and school buildings, creditable and adequate to the wants of the people, mark the progress of civilization, religion and education. Hotels in size and sumptuousness of a commercial metropolis have been erected to supply the wants of the traveling public, while comfortable residences and splendid blocks of buildings in the business localities have been reared to gratify the taste and to accommodate the increasing trade and commerce of our prosperous city.

OUR ARMY VOLUNTEERS.

In conclusion, gentlemen, I should be directed in my duty as a public officer, if, at this time, I should fail to bring to your remembrance the brave men who have gone forth from our midst to meet the common foe of our country. There is a mission now sacred to admit of empty eulogy, and

I would willingly drop the stereotyped forms of praise could I choose fitting words to portray the nobleness of the act, the patriotic impulses that have carried them away from comfortable homes to manfully endure and bravely meet the dangers of camp and field. And I am sure that were I to produce a simple "God bless them" in behalf of a thousand hearts in Janesville would respond with a fullness of emotion that words could never utter.

It is estimated that since the commencement of the rebellion, about six hundred men have gone from our city to join the ranks of the Union, and I am rejoiced to believe that from the pioneer company, that has recorded its name high on the scroll of fame in the immortal "Iron Brigade" of the 3d regiment, the last to leave us, no soldier from Janesville has brought disgrace upon the arms of his country, or discredit upon the fair fame of the city he goes from.

Our citizens with commendable liberality, both as individuals and members of patriotic associations, have done much to ameliorate the condition and relieve the wants of our soldiers in the camp and field. It is to be hoped that no relaxation of this attention, no want of patriotism on our part, will occur, but that each and every one will do to the fullest extent of his means, in every way, and thus cheer the soldier in his dreary marches, lighten his heart in the hospital, and nerve his arm in the hour of conflict. It is especially desired that kindly offices, both to the soldier in the field and to his family at home, may not be neglected by any class of our citizens. Let it not be said that our soldiers become demoralized, not through fear of the enemy in front, but from apathy, illiberality and want of patriotism on the part of friends at home.

We are protected and honored in the arms of the republic. Shall we be disgraced by any lack of good order at home? Can it be believed a spirit exists or can be created in the citizens that would create a portion of its citizens into actual resistance to any reasonable demands of the government? I am unwilling to entertain for a moment such an idea. I hope there is no one so lost to all patriotism and love of country as not to lend his influence, and call to his aid all the means in his power, to assist in bringing to an end this fratricidal strife, so that the law may again become supreme over the land, and peace and unity, the fraternal bands of union, once more unite this proud galaxy of states.

But it events shall prove that in this I am mistaken, (which God forbid), then it only remains for the good and loyal citizens to show, by a spirit of moderation but firmness, that local laws and municipal corporations, however lenient they may be when unmolested in their peaceful administrations, were never created to be a shield to traitors and sympathizers with treason in times of great public danger.

CONCLUSION.

Finally, in all legislation that shows due economy in the financial government of the city, in everything that tends to make local laws less oppressive to all classes and promotes the good of society in all respects, I shall most willingly cooperate with you.
